

Stylish Renovations at Vancouver's Sunset Inn & Suites

Spacious Suites are Redesigned as Inviting Residential Spaces

Vancouver, BC, April 11, 2006 – The Sunset Inn & Suites has undergone a change so dramatic it can only be called a metamorphosis. This 11-story hotel in Downtown Vancouver, BC recently underwent an impressive transformation with newly renovated suites. Step inside and you'll find gorgeous Mediterranean inspired rooms in soft yellows, apricots, tans and bold greens. The look is classic, warm and inviting.

"The Sunset Inn is dedicated to providing exceptional service and enhancing guest comfort," says Michael Wright, General Manager. "We've always offered large suites with fully equipped kitchens, but now our interior renovation provides guests looking for more comfort with a luxurious setting as well."

Every room in the 50-room hotel has undergone a change. New features include traditional area rugs, golden oak flooring, crown molding, fully equipped kitchens with oversized sinks, 300+ thread count sheets, taffeta draperies, free high speed wireless Internet, and many little extras that add a personal touch, including plush California cotton towels and a newspaper delivered to your room each morning.

The new Executive Suites, located on the top three floors, offer spectacular views along with the extensive new renovation. The international award-winning architect Louis deAraujo dedicated over two years in working with the hotel to redesign the Executive Suites as timeless residential interiors, with décor that is warm, comfortable and inviting. The suites feature rich brocade armchairs, luxurious pillow-top beds, coffee tables with tan leather inlays, large desks with oversize leather chairs, 32" televisions, granite kitchens, bathrooms with marble countertops and porcelain-tiled floors, deep-soaking tubs, specialty bath products, plush bathrobes, and private balconies with patio furniture. DeAraujo custom-designed the furnishings in caramel colored maple with decorative inlaid designs, to complement the new golden oak floors which are clad with carefully selected area rugs. Each Executive Suite now caters to the modern traveler, with an ambiance that invites guests to stay indoors, relax and recharge.

Guests have been enthusiastic about the changes. Will Y. from Washington writes: "We loved it! The Sunset Inn is now on our list of favorite places to stay." Landor L. from Alberta commented: "The Executive Suites are a great idea. The room was absolutely terrific!"

The Sunset Inn has always been known for its spacious suites – in fact, some of the largest in Vancouver at up to 700 sq. feet. The new Executive Suite redesign has created open plan layouts that make more use of natural light and enhance the sense of spaciousness.

The hotel is renowned for its exceptional staff who provide highly attentive and friendly service. Ed and Kathy C. from Maryland had this to say: "Our stay at the Sunset Inn was outstanding. The friendly and efficient service we have experienced always enhances the enjoyment of our visits to Vancouver. Keep doing what you are doing to serve your guests." It's no wonder that guests return to the hotel in large numbers year after year.

Each suite creates the feel of your own apartment in the city – from the carpets and hardwood floors, to the wallpaper and duvet covers. Anne G. from Denmark expressed it as, "You feel like home, with enough space to spend weeks or a month here."

The Sunset Inn & Suites at 1111 Burnaby St., will become your second home, located in Downtown Vancouver's scenic West End neighbourhood, on a picturesque residential street. The hotel's great location places guests at a short walk from many Vancouver landmarks: Stanley Park, the seawall, Robson Street, Granville Island, and English Bay, as well as restaurants, cafes, galleries, shops, theatres, festivals, and Vancouver's business district.
